

Why is Hong Kong a food paradise?

Hong Kong is famous for food and its wide-ranging cuisines have become a part of the popular culture in Hong Kong. Many people think Hong Kong is a food paradise with eateries from different countries, which means you can taste food from different places in a small area. If you want to experience various food like Japanese sushi, Korean kimchi and so on in a 5-day trip, Hong Kong is surely your best choice.

Restaurants to eat out in Hong Kong

In Hong Kong, there are so many eateries in different areas that you can find a restaurant easily in every street. You can choose upscale luxurious restaurant or affordable cha chaan teng to eat out. Dai pai dong is also a good place for experiencing the local dining culture. It is a type of open-air food stalls in Hong Kong and the dishes are mouth-watering and absolutely delicious.

Signature cuisines you must try

Fish ball is similar to another popular local dish, beef ball, but it is smaller, and made from cheaper fish. They are usually sold at food stalls with five to seven pieces on a bamboo stick, and you can add on top some spicy curry sauce before eating and it tastes very soft and palatable. Egg puff is one of the most popular Hong Kong 'street snacks' and is ranked No.1 in a 100-most-popular-HK-street-snack listing. The aroma of egg puff is irresistible and it tastes like cake. It is a must-try for any tourists.

So what are you waiting for? Enjoy the food paradise here in Hong Kong!