Protect the environment and save the Earth

I would like to express my opinion about the pollution problems in Hong Kong. As we know, pollution is becoming a warning to all of us. We should do something to protect the environment and save the Earth.

Recently, we have been facing different kinds of pollution, for instance, air pollution and land pollution. Nowadays, a lot of people have their own car and always drive it. When they go to other places, they drive their own car and do not take public transport. Therefore, the number of cars around us is increasing, which means more harmful carbon dioxide is being emitted into the air.

Another cause of air pollution is that many people always generate lots of rubbish. Then the waste will be put to the landfills. After that, toxic gases will be released from the rubbish. So, the air quality is worsened. Also, lots of people always generate a lot of rubbish, which makes the landfills full soon.

If Hong Kong people want to improve the quality of the environment, the government should legislate to restrict the amount of rubbish and food waste produced. Also, the government should pass a law to ban people from leaving the engines of their cars idle. I think these are useful in protecting the environment because they can reduce air pollution in Hong Kong.

As students, we can reduce using paper and we can recycle things as much as possible to help protect the environment.

To conclude, we are facing a lot of pollution problems and we should take action to protect the environment and save the Earth.

Yours faithfully,

Chris Wong
