I prefer watching action movies because I like the idea of someone like Batman or Spiderman fighting a bunch of villains and I am fond of the dramatic style of combating between characters, e.g. the Joker and the Batman or the Spiderman and the Green Goblin. These characters have been iconic to me since I saw them.

Another type of movies that I enjoy watching would be sci-fi, such as "Inception". In my opinion, it has the elements of drama and action that make a great film. Also, the way the actors and actresses act and look can increase the intense atmosphere of the movie.

My favourite film so far has been 'The Dark Knight', featuring the Batman. This film is an action and romantic drama which is brilliantly put together by its director, Christopher Nolan and the actors' spectacular performances. Therefore, the film was an award-wining production over the years. The feature of this film is that it often has continuous motions and actions, including physical stunts, chases, fights, battles and races. The story revolves around a hero that has a goal to avenge his father's murder, but is facing incredible odds. I particularly like the suspenses that occur throughout the movie.

My favourite characters are usually heroes. For me, the Batman, Bruce Wayne, is the best actor. First of all, his physical appearance is remarkable, and it can be seen that he has put a lot of effort into making himself strong. Secondly, he shows his capability of martial arts with his great range of moves. This keeps them entertained. Following that, Bruce Wayne remains a well-organized gentleman that occasionally offers humorous scenes. That is why many people enjoy watching his films.
