

My Blog by Aidan Chu (1D)

I am enjoying a grand new experience at Buddhist Wong Fung Ling College. I thought it was a very terrifying secondary school at first, but now, I think it is pretty cool.

When I first saw my school, I thought it looked like a big temple! Since I joined the English Speech Festival, I sometimes had to stay after school to practice. The lights were out when I finished the practice session and it was very creepy at the stairs and corridors. It felt like I was in a big ghost house so I quickly ran away after school.

People in this school are polite and friendly. Once, I was lost in the school. Luckily a teacher showed me the way to the classroom so I think all of the teachers are friendly and polite. Also I think the teachers are willing to teach us and they teach us with hearts. My schoolmates are all easy-going because they are talkative and willing to make friends.

My favorite place is the tuck shop since the food is cheap and yummy. For example, instant noodle is around $8.5 and chicken nuggets are also around $10. I think they are much cheaper than McDonald's!

My favorite thing to do is to play football during my PE lessons. I am usually the referee. I sometimes be the goalkeeper.

To sum up, I think I will enjoy the rest of my school life.
