

<Sleepwalker in the Wonderland>

Time to go to school today. No! It should be “everyday”. Study, dictation... exam... lunch time... after lunch, study, dictation... round and round non stop until I pass the exam. What’s more? Get the highest marks! Yes this is a game for my daily life---now and future, it is a competition to get marks and everything here is made by marks. I need to live up to my parents’ expectation that they are players in this game. Now, my level is up to grade 30 now.

“ I’ve got enough to play this game. I want to have my adventure! ”

“Today is a perfect day to escape. I need to imitate Wreck-It-Ralph to get the things I hope. Not long ago, I sent a message to the centre of computer console to ask for changing my game department. Later it gave me a rabbit back! What? Rabbit! What I want is not a rabbit. I want to escape! ” But the rabbit signed me to follow it. Then I followed it and flew into a hole. We arrived at a beautiful place! Strange plants were surrounding us and some of them were even taller than us. Suddenly, I felt the ground shaking and I heard a loud noise which was not far away from us . Uh... I stayed for a few seconds at the time when I saw a Dinosaur, Wha.....what? Dinosaur had become extinct, hadn’t they? But I really saw a dinosaur coming. It was only ten-meter distance from us and I began to run away. It is a Tyrannosaurus Rex which had a cruel character and loved meat. “Help! I don’t want to escape anymore, I want to go home.” I thought. Just before Tyrannosaurus was ready to swallow us, I felt a warm and a bright light. Then I arrived a little old house. I felt thirsty so I wanted to drink something but I found that could not move my body and I became invisible. I even could not find where I am. I was just slanting my eyes and looking around the place. Suddenly, I found a mirror in the corner of the house. I saw a fat lady sleeping on my bed and her dress was surprisingly pretty that I thought she must be the princess but why did she sleep in this old house? The door opened and a beautiful woman came in, she said, “Oh! My sleeping beauty! Oh! You are the sleeping frog right now. Um..... If you don’t look that pretty, I don’t need to spell on you to make you sleep for a thousand years and get uglier. Unless someone finds you and kisses you, you’ll not wake up. But look at your face now, who will kiss you? Ha! Ha! Ha! ” I was angry about it. I wanted to escape from that fat lady. Suddenly I could move! I hid in the wardrobe and I was ready to rush out but it's all too late. "Who's there?..... Malimalihom!" When I saw the mirror, I was turned into a frog and I fainted because I was too frightened.

I woke up and checked my body immediately, "So happy that I am not a frog! And I go back to my real life now, yeah!" Now I don't think my life was bad anymore and I realized our road of life was too dangerous so we needed to learn a lot that would enable us to know how to solve different problems rather than just rushing forward. I was happy to have such a dream. Suddenly, I saw a rabbit and it smiled at me then it ran away..... should I follow it?
