FW: Inspiring Words to Live by

Jeshlyn Ho (19)

I have moved from China to Hong Kong for 2 years. In Hong Kong, my family and I live in a place surrounded by skyscrapers and we tend to forget about nature and the sea. At first, I was worried that I couldn't adapt to the lifestyle of Hong Kong people and the learning patterns of local students. Moreover, my friends stayed at my hometown and I used to the lifestyle there. Therefore, I resisted moving to Hong Kong and I was afraid to change my life. Sometimes I'm still confused by the decision to move to Hong Kong as I am always under the great pressure of study. I have even tried to escape from the harsh realities of life here, but I know that I have to overcome my fear in order to have a better life in the future.

The Most Inspiring Quote to Me:

"Failure is not fatal, but the failure to change might be."

After reading this inspiring quote, I realized that it's essential to change. In the past, I was always afraid of failure, but there was simply no way to get around it, so I started to change my attitude towards failure. Now, I am willing to accept change in order to grow. I have tried to participate in different activities in order to improve myself. Moreover, I have tried my best to speak fluent Cantonese so that I can fully integrate into the society of Hong Kong. I believe that I can eventually be the person that I want to be.
