Letter to my primary school teacher

Dear Miss Zheung

How are things going at school? I'm Lam Chiu Leung, a student from 6D two years ago. Do you still remember me? Have you kept in touch with the graduated students? I still remember those meaningful words that you told me. 'You need to be both a speaker of words and a doer of deeds? Although you have probably forgotten what you taught me, I'll always keep them in my heart. Thank you so much for your kindness and patience.

There are many fun activities in my secondary school and my favourite one is sports day. Although our sports day was held on a hot, rainy day, our passion didn't get extinguished by the rain. After our Principal delivered his speech during the opening ceremony, the sports day officially started. There were different kinds of events in our sport days like sprint, long jump, high jump, shot put and relay. The cheerleading teams of different classes had many props like megaphone, pompoms and their own unique banner.

Whenever it was my classmates' turn to compete in a race, my whole class would scream and cheer like crazy. 'Come on, you can do it!' shouted the whole class over and over again. It was entertaining to watch the cheerleading team of my class --- a minute ago the atmosphere could be boring and nobody talked, but a minute later everyone would scream and cheer like mad.

When it was finally my turn to compete in the 100 meter sprint, I felt very nervous and there were butterflies in my stomach. My class teacher, Miss Chan, encouraged me, I "Try your best!" I walked slowly to the starting line and I got ready. I heard 'Bang' from the starting pistol. Everyone ran as fast as they could. I could see my classmates and class teachers cheering for me at the corner of my eyes. I finally crossed the finish line. I never felt more relieved than that moment. Although I was the last one in my heat, I still felt very happy with my result because I did not quit and I did my best. After I returned to my class, my whole class surrounded me and yelled, "Don't worry, you can definitely beat them next year because you have the best classmates in the world."

Miss Zheung, I can still remember what you said to me when I was in my last sports day. I'm looking forward to seeing you again. Wish you all the best. Goodbye!

Yours sincerely,

Lam Chiu Leung
