

The day when I lost my smartphone

Hi Frank,

How are you going?

I had a bad experience recently, as you see at the subject I text in, I lost my smartphone last week. I am sorry that I couldn't reply to your email then.

It all happened on the day that I went out with my friends. I brought my bag that had my homework and laptop inside. There was a small space where I put my phone. I met my friends at the library to do homework and talk about the project we had to work on.

Things went as usual, but when I went back home and changed my clothes, I found that my phone was missing! It was nowhere to be found, no matter if it was the bag or my clothes! I was very helpless as it was my first phone I got in my life. I had got it for only one year. I paid $40 for my bright and colorful phone case. Worst of all, my invaluable photos and videos were all lost!

When I noticed my phone was missing, I burst into tears. I cried so hard that my mum was suspicious and asked whether I felt unwell. I told my mum that I accidentally lost my phone. My mum took out her phone and turned on the GPS. WOW! To my surprise, I saw my name with a phone icon on the map! It was at the library! I left my phone at the library! My mum and I returned to the library by bus right away and I took back my phone. I felt I was reborn when I got my phone back. I was thrilled beyond words!

I have learnt to be more careful with my belongings. I don't want to lose my phone again. It was a very awful experience. I am going to put my phone beside me no matter where I go now. Do you have a similar experience? I would like to know about it!

Hope you have a nice day! Don't lose your phone and not realize about it just like me. Write soon!

Best,
Amanda
