Presentation for my favourite TV programme

Good morning, everyone! Today I'd like to talk about a sitcom that I really enjoy. It is called "Come Home Love".

"Come Home Love" is one of the sitcom series produced by TVB and it started broadcasting in 2012. This sitcom was originally scheduled for 180 episodes. However, because of its extremely high viewing rate, the crew decided to increase the number of episodes by four times. The story is appealing to me as it is a modern sitcom.

The sitcom is set in a modern city, Hong Kong. Let me introduce its main characters. The sitcom revolves around the Ma's Family, an extended Chinese family living together. They are Ma Fu, a retired officer, his younger sister, Ma Yau, the second son, Ma Keung and his wife, Lo Lai Sheung, his deceased eldest son's children, Ma Tse Yau and Ma Tse Nei and the youngest son, Ma Chang. The story is about their family life. The most memorable episode for me was an episode titled "Don't go home today". In this episode, Damon Cha was invited to have dinner in Ma Fu's home and the next day, he cooked for them. Damon was surprised at Ma Fu's different balsam pear dishes for each of his family members. Ma Fu did a lot for his family. Although Damon appreciated his effort, he did not agree with him and he just enjoyed his luxurious but lonely life. I like the story because it lets me understand that the most important thing in a family is unity and harmony.

I am deeply moved by this sitcom and I realize the importance of family ties. No matter how bad we feel, home is a place which gives us support. I know that my family have done so much for me and I must be thankful to them and cherish all of the time when we are together..

I hope you enjoy listening to my presentation about my favourite sitcom. That's the end of my presentation. Thank you.
