

Meeting My Sports Idol

I have always looked up to the famous snooker player, Ian Pau. He is a well-known snooker player in the world. He has been the World Snooker Champion three times. When I heard he was coming to Hong Kong for a match, I thought it was a golden chance to meet him.

I found out that Ian would be in Hong Kong in May. I wanted to give him a present, but I couldn't think of what gift was the best. Suddenly, a brilliant idea popped up in my mind. I would make an action figure of Ian by myself. Without a doubt, it must be unique because it would be made by me. But there was still a problem. How could I see him and give him this precious present? I kept thinking about the answer for weeks.

Finally, three days later, I worked out the way to meet him. First, I checked out the hotel he was going to stay and I booked a room for a few days during the time when Ian was in Hong Kong. On the day he came, the entire hotel entrance was crowded with fans. I couldn't get near an inch, but amazingly I met him inside the hotel. I immediately gave him the action figure which was made by me. Ian didn't let me down, and he signed on the T-shirt I was wearing.

I know I was lucky to have met him face to face and I look forward to seeing him again!
