

4D Ian Au Yeung Restaurant Review

I highly recommend the grill house called Garden Restaurant. It is located in Causeway Bay opposite to SOGO. The place is a little gloomy but gives a comfortable feeling to customers. There are very soft sofas for customers to relax. You will be very hungry there because of the strong smell of steak, lamb chops, pork and different delicious dishes.

I have tried its juicy and tender steaks many times. The meat is served in big portion, giving a satisfying feeling to customers. It is not cheap for having a dinner there though. Be ready to pay at least one hundred dollars for a person, but there is also a half-price period at tea time.

The service there is fast and very efficient. The waiters are polite and thoughtful. They will ask you if the dishes are satisfactory after you finish your meals, unlike those waiters who just take your plate away quickly even if you still haven't finished the food.

There are many choices of drinks such as fruit punch, lemon soda etc. The variety of drinks makes it stand out from other restaurants. There are also different rice or pasta dishes.

One of my friends recommends a fast food restaurant called Fairwood, which is near our school. I think the place is small and crowded. It is so hard to have a place for lunch there. There is a wide choice of food, but the food quality is average. Also, the portion is small and it is not enough to fill up your stomach. Moreover, the ingredients are not fresh. To make up for this, the prices of the dishes are generally cheap. It is affordable for the working class and students.

The service there is not satisfactory, too. The waiters just clean the tables quickly, and do not care about the customers. The best thing of this restaurant is that many new dishes roll out every month. It makes customers feel new.

In conclusion, I think Garden Restaurant is the best because the food there is much tastier and the service and decor are much better than Fairwood Restaurant
