Our School actively promotes Fung Ling Spirit of "Be self-disciplined and rule abiding", "Eager to Learn", "Be caring and polite" and "Be ready for service". We organise various programs and activities to create a platform that finds opportunities for students to nurture these qualities through appreciation and encouragement; alongside allowing them to develop their skills through application of what they have learned.

Be caring and polite

The School aims to promote a culture of care and courtesy in the campus. The inauguration ceremony of Fung Ling Leaders and Courtesy Ambassadors as well as series of appreciation activities are held every year to strengthen this caring and polite attitude among our students.

Be ready for service

The School encourages students to serve the society, and organises a number of large-scale volunteer services every year to let students practise what they have learned: "Be ready for service".

Eager to learn

The School takes active steps in advocating the mindset of "eager to learn" with remarkable results. In last year's DSE result, the four core subjects and the best five subjects have attained the exceptional reading of Level 9 of the SVAIS performance analysis, ours is crowned a high value-added school.

Diamond Jubilee School Anniversary

For sixty years since the founding of our school, the development of Buddhist Wong Fung Ling College gains the unyielding care and support from our alumni. On the occasion of 60th Anniversary, the School has held a series of celebration activities for all our alumni who rejoiced over the memorable moments together.

Diamond Jubilee School Anniversary

All students and alumni returned to the School to celebrate the remarkable achievement of our 60 years. We took pride in running series of exciting activities on the day, including Fung Ling school tour, student performances, game booths, Alumni Ball Game Competitions, Meet with Teachers, Chit-chat Time: Fung Ling Pupils, and many others. All participants felt the programmes fun, entertaining and suitable for all ages.
